Mr. Fred C. Beans,

My dear Sir:--

I received your letter. I wrote to Glen Gardner but they do not know where Alice is just now but she left there New Years Day with a man. This information was given to me by a girl that I spoke to in Elizabeth in the Penn. R. R. Station. She was telling other girls that she just came from Glen Gardner and then I asked her how Alice was, as I had no word from her in a month or more and the girl told me Alice was living with the man in Newark some where. I have had no word from Alice since Dec. 30th and she told me her time would expire in March. Alice lived with her aunt and I often wanted Alice home and my husband and I had many words because he wanted to leave Alice with his aunt and sister and they came to see me and said Alice must never leave them. We did not support Alice but once in a while bought some little things for Alice, and sent them to her. I could not afford to visit on account of the fare. But they, my husband's aunt and sister came to visit us once in a while but would never bring Alice with them for fear I would keep her home. We moved from Bayonne, N. J. in 1909, I think it was in May and we moved away in September, 1915.

Perhaps you could find out if you wrote to Glen Gardner where the girl I spoke to in Elizabeth lives, her name is Mary and she said she lived with a aunt. I hope and pray this trouble will soon be settled. I am sick and I wish I was dead I have nothing to live for, nothing but trouble, trouble since I was eight years old, and there is I suppose, only one way out of it all.
